Dear Leuschner:

I have been trying since yesterday to get you on the phone, but no answer. I decided it would be better to drop you a line than wait until Monday to talk to you.

I am sorry you did not speak to me at the meeting, although I have been writing to the Wilson people for over a month now about some new uniforms. I have had at least four letters from them, and they had promised to have their man stop in Newark and see me when he came to Brooklyn. My most recent correspondence has been with Ed. Taylor.

I do not think it would be right to go from one man to another. Why didn't you let me know sooner you were going to handle the uniforms? If you have any suggestion to make let me hear from you.

Very Truly Yours
